

As a nationally certified interpreter it brings great concern to me that the quality and availability of VRS services has been deteriorating since the funding cut. Another funding cut would severely worsen the state of VRS. It is a shame to see a service that allows people equal access to be limited by such a decision.